WHAT IS A MUTUAL FUND AND WHAT ARE THE RISKS OF INVESTING IN A MUTUAL FUND?

Mutual funds generally

A mutual fund is a pool of money consisting of contributions made by people with similar investment objectives. Investors are issued units in the mutual fund in proportion to the amounts contributed. These investors share the mutual fund's investment income, capital gains and losses, as well as expenses, in proportion to the number of units they hold.

General investment risks

Mutual funds own different types of investments, depending upon their investment objectives. The value of these investments will change from day to day, reflecting interest rates, economic conditions, and market and company news. As a result, the value of a mutual fund's units may go up and down, and the value of your investment in a mutual fund may be more or less when you redeem it than when you purchase it.

The amount invested in any North Growth mutual fund is not guaranteed. Unlike bank accounts or GICs, mutual fund units are not covered by the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government deposit insurer.

The risks of investing in any mutual fund are similar to the risks of investing in a portfolio of securities. The risks of investing in a particular security are related to the company's capitalization, size, product lines, management skills, marketplaces and financial resources. Generally equity securities of smaller or private companies are less liquid and more volatile than those of larger public companies. Increased volatility is also associated with a company's limited product lines, marketplaces and financial resources as well as its dependence on a limited number of key individuals.

Under exceptional circumstances, a mutual fund may suspend redemptions. Please refer to Redemptions on page 7.

PURCHASES, SWITCHES AND REDEMPTIONS

How units are valued

When you buy units of the Fund you pay the price or net asset value ("NAV") per unit plus any applicable sales charges. When you redeem (sell) units, you receive the NAV per unit less any applicable redemption charges.

The NAV per unit of the Fund is calculated at 4:00 pm (Eastern time) every day the New York Stock Exchange is open. We calculate a separate NAV for each series of units of the Fund. The NAV per unit of each series is calculated by dividing the value of the net assets of the series by the total number of units in the series.

The NAV per unit is the price for all sales of units of a series (including reinvestment of distributions) and for redemptions. The issue or redemption price of units of the Fund is based on the Fund's net asset value next determined after the receipt of a purchase order or a redemption order.

The Fund is permitted to have an unlimited number of series of units and may issue an unlimited number of units of each series. The Fund currently has two series of units—Series D and Series F.

Series D units are only available through dealers who have entered into an agreement with North Growth to distribute Series D units. Series D units may only be purchased, switched or redeemed through these dealers. We pay a trailing commission to a dealer who sells Series D units. For more information see "Trailer fees" on page 10.

Series F units are available to investors who have fee-based accounts with their dealer and whose dealer has entered into an agreement with North Growth to distribute Series F units. Instead of paying sales charges, these investors pay an annual fee to their dealer for investment advice and other services. We do not pay any commission to a dealer who sells Series F units.

How to buy, switch or redeem

You must buy, switch or redeem units of this Fund through a registered dealer.

Once you place your order to buy, redeem or switch units your broker or dealer is responsible for forwarding your order to us on the same day. If we receive your order after 12:00 pm Pacific time/3:00 pm Eastern time on any valuation date you will pay or receive the NAV per unit on the next valuation date. All orders are settled within three business days.

Purchases

Your dealer may charge you a fee for purchasing units of the Fund. This fee is negotiated between you and your dealer.

Regulatory authorities have established the following rules for buying mutual fund units:

- We must receive full payment for the units within three business days of receiving your order.
- If we do not receive payment within three business days, we are required to sell your units. If the proceeds are greater than the payment you owe, the Funds will keep the difference. If the proceeds are less than the payment you owe, we must pay the Fund the difference, and we will collect this amount from your dealer, who may have the right to collect it from you.

- We have the right to reject any order to buy units within one business day of receiving it. If we reject your order, we will return your money immediately.

Minimum amount you can invest

You must make an initial purchase of at least $5,000 to buy Series D or Series F units of the Fund. Each subsequent purchase must be at least $1,000. North Growth may change these minimums at any time, at our discretion.

Automatic reinvestment of distributions

We automatically reinvest all distributions of the Fund in additional units of the Fund unless your dealer tells us in advance in writing that you want to receive cash. Distributions are generally made in December.

Switches

You cannot switch between funds as The North Growth U.S Equity Advisor Fund is currently the only North Growth Fund available under prospectus through your registered dealer. Other North Growth Funds available through your dealer are only available pursuant to exemptions from prospectus and registration requirements available under National Instrument 45-106-Prospectus and Registration Exemptions. Trades made under these exemptions require further client disclosure.

A switch between series of units of the Fund is called “redesignation”. You can switch your Series D units to Series F Units, or vice versa, if you are eligible to buy them. Switching units of one series to units of another series is not considered to be a disposition for income tax purposes.

Redemptions

Your dealer may charge you a fee for redeeming units of the Fund.

Once the instructions necessary to complete the transaction are received by us from your dealer, your money will be released to you within three business days. However, if these instructions are not received within 10 business days of the redemption, the units you redeemed will be bought back on the next valuation date. If they are bought back for less than you redeemed them for, the Fund keeps the difference. If they are bought back for more than you redeemed them for, your dealer will be charged the difference plus any costs. Your dealer may, in turn, charge you for these amounts.

In extraordinary circumstances we may suspend the right of investors to redeem units of the Fund. These circumstances include when:

- Normal trading is suspended on any stock exchange on which securities that make up more than half of the Fund’s total assets by value are traded; or
- We have permission from the British Columbia Securities Commission.

Short term trading

Short term trading activities in the Fund may adversely affect unitholders. Frequent trading can hurt the Fund's performance by forcing the Portfolio Manager to keep more cash in the Fund that would otherwise be needed, or to sell investments at inappropriate times. It may also increase the Fund's transaction costs. We may impose a short term trading fee of up to 2% of the current value of the units if you redeem or switch out units within five days of purchasing or previously switching into the Fund. These fees will be paid to the Fund.

We will regularly monitor the transactions in the Fund. In order to eliminate trading activity that we deem potentially detrimental to long-term unitholders, if there is an excessive level of transaction activity on your account, we have the right to restrict or reject any purchase or switch order without any prior notice, including those transactions accepted by your dealer. Whether your trading is considered excessive will be determined by us at our sole discretion.

Minimum account size

Minimum investment levels are established in an effort to control the cost of administering accounts which impact all unitholders. You must keep at least $2,500 in your account. If your account falls below the required minimum amount as a result of a redemption, we may require you to bring the value of your account up to the minimum or we may redeem your units and forward you the proceeds. We will give your dealer 30 days' notice to meet the minimum before any action is taken.

OPTIONAL SERVICESUS dollar purchase option

Funds units can be purchased in US or Canadian dollars. For Fund units purchased in US dollars, switches will be processed in US dollars and redemption proceeds and distributions will be paid in US dollars. The US dollar options should only be used as a convenience; it provides the same currency for tax purposes in Canadian dollars. For details regarding the calculation of the Fund's unit price in Canadian dollars and in US dollars please refer to the Fund's Annual Information Form page 7.

FEES AND EXPENSES

This table lists the fees and expenses that you may have to pay if you invest in the North Growth U.S. Equity Advisor Fund. You may pay some of these fees and expenses directly. The Fund may have to pay some of these fees and expenses, which will therefore reduce the value of your investment in the Fund.

Fees and expenses paid by the fund

Management fees

The Fund pays an annual fee to North Growth with respect to Series D and F units issued by the Fund for its services as manager of the Fund. Certain operating costs of the Fund, including audit and legal fees of the Fund and the Trustee, custody fees, costs of preparing annual and semi-annual reports, statements and prospectuses and forwarding these documents to unitholders, expenses of conducting any unitholder meetings, and costs of bookkeeping, fund accounting, registry and transfer services, are included in the management fee and are not paid separately by the Fund. The fee is calculated daily and paid monthly based on the daily net asset value of the Fund. The fees for each series are set out in Part B — Fund Details.

Unitholders will be provided with written notice at least 60 days before any change to these fees (and any other fee charged to the Fund) becomes effective that could result in an increase in charges to the Fund.

Operating expenses and other costs

The following costs and expenses are paid by the Fund:

- brokerage fees and other fees and disbursements directly relating to the implementation of transactions for the portfolio of the Fund;
- any taxes payable by the Fund;
- interest expenses, if any;
- trailer fees ; and
- fees and expenses payable to members of the Independent Review Committee (IRC) appointed by the Manager including insurance coverage required by the IRC.

Each series of units of the Fund is responsible for the operating expenses that relate specifically to that series and for its proportionate share of the operating costs that are common to all series.

Unitholders will be provided with written notice at least 60 days before the basis of calculating these expenses (or any other expense charged to the Fund) is changed in a way that could result in an increase in charges to the Fund.

Fees and expenses paid directly by you

Sales charges

When you purchase units through your dealer, you negotiate the sales commission you pay with the dealer. The range for sales commissions is generally from nil to 2% of the purchase order. Your dealer will generally deduct the sales commission and forward the net amount of the order to be invested in the Fund. You should ask your dealer to provide you with sales commission details.

Switch fees

You cannot switch between funds as The North Growth U.S. Equity Advisor Fund is currently the only North Growth Fund available under prospectus through your registered dealer. A switch between series of units of the Fund is called “redesignation”. You can switch your Series D units to Series F Units, or vice versa, if you are eligible to buy them. Please refer to Switches on page 5. Your dealer may charge a fee for this service.

Redemption fees

None. Your dealer may charge a redemption fee.

Short term trading fees

We may charge a short term trading fee of up to 2% of the current value of the units if you redeem or switch out units within five days of purchasing or previously switching into the Fund. These fees will be paid to the Fund.

IMPACT OF SALES CHARGES

The following table shows the impact of sales charges you would pay under the different purchase options available to you if you made an investment of $1,000 in a Fund, and if you held that investment for one, three, five or ten years and redeemed your investment immediately before the end of that period.

	At time of Purchase	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Sales charge*	-	-	-	-	-
Redemption charge	-	-	-	-	-

*Your dealer may apply a sales or redemption charge on Series D units but we do not. There are no sales charges on series F units.

DEALER COMPENSATIONSales commissions

There are no sales commissions payable on purchases of Series D or Series F units.

Trailer fees

For Series D units we pay dealers an ongoing service fee, known as a “trailing commission”, based on the total value of Series D units their clients hold in the Fund. No trailing commissions are paid on Series F units. Purchasers of Series F units will generally be required to pay their dealers under a “fee-for-service” program.

The maximum trailing commissions are as follows:

	Series D	Series F
North Growth U.S. Equity Advisor Fund	0.50%	n/a

The trailing commission is calculated on a daily basis as a percentage of assets each dealer has placed in Series D units. The accumulated daily fees are paid to the dealers monthly.

INCOME TAX CONSIDERATION FOR INVESTORS

This section is a general summary of how your investments in the Fund are taxed. It applies to individual investors who are resident in Canada and hold their units in a non-registered account as capital property, or in an RRSP, RRIF, TFSA or other registered investment plan. Please consult with your tax advisor about your own circumstances.

Distributions from the Fund

The Fund may earn dividend, interest or other income from the investments in its portfolio. It may also realize income or capital gains when it sells investments at a profit.

The Fund pays out its net capital gains to investors so that the Fund does not have to pay any income taxes. These payments are called distributions. The portion of the distributions payable to unitholders of each series is determined based on a number of factors. After taking into account any adjustments available under the Income Tax Act (Canada) for capital gains attributable to redeeming shareholders, distributions payable to unitholders of a series are divided equally among the units of the series. Please refer to the Annual Information Form—Income Tax Considerations.

North Growth will reinvest your distributions to buy additional units of the Fund unless you tell us in advance that you want to receive your distributions in cash. Units of the Fund will be consolidated immediately after the distribution so that the number of units held by a unitholder immediately before a distribution will be equal to the number of units held by a unitholder immediately after a distribution.

The Fund will elect to have a December 15th taxation year-end and, if necessary, will make an annual distribution of net income and net realized capital gains on this date. The Fund may make distributions at other times during the year.

Units held in non-registered accounts

If you hold units of the Fund in an unregistered account, you are required to report the distributions you receive from the Fund on your income tax return. You will be sent a T3 tax slip each year that shows your share of the Fund's distributions of income and capital gains.

When you invest in the Fund, the unit price may include accrued income and realized capital gains that have not been distributed. You will have to include your share of a distribution of those amounts on your income tax return, even though the amounts were reflected in the purchase price for your units. Similarly, unrealized capital gains at the time you buy your units will be taxable if they are realized and distributed to you. This consideration may be important if you invest in the Fund late in the year.

The higher the portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year and the greater the chance of an investor receiving capital gains in the year. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a Fund.

You will have a capital gain if you redeem any units (including a redemption to switch funds) for more than the adjusted cost base (“ACB”) of the units plus your costs to redeem the units. You will have a capital loss if you redeem the units for less than their ACB plus your costs to redeem the units. The redemption amount used to compute a capital gain or loss is net of the short term trading fee. On your tax return, one-half of a capital gain is included in your income, and one-half of a capital loss may be offset against the taxable portion of any capital gains you realize.

The ACB of a unit is equal to the average ACB of all your units of the Fund. Generally, the ACB of all your units is equal to the total cost of units you have bought to that time (including units purchased by reinvesting distributions) minus the return of capital component of distributions and the ACB of units previously redeemed.

Units held in registered plans

The Fund is a registered investment under the Act. Units of the Fund are qualified investments under the Act for Registered Retirement Savings Plans (“RRSPs”), Registered Retirement Income Funds (“RRIFs”) and for registered investment plans such as Tax Free Savings Accounts (“TFSA”).

If you hold your units in a registered plan, the plan does not have to pay any taxes on income or capital gains. You do not have to pay taxes on these amounts until you withdraw money from the registered plan. Any amount you withdraw from a registered plan (other than an RESP, RDSP or TFSA) is fully taxable. Any amount withdrawn from an RESP or RDSP is taxable to the extent it is not a refund of contributions. Amounts withdrawn from a TFSA are not taxable.

Switching between series

Switching units of one series to units of another series of the Fund is not a disposition for tax purposes and no capital gain or loss will be realized. The ACB of the units that were switched will be transferred to the units of the series acquired on the switch.

WHAT DOES THE FUND INVEST IN?Investment objectives

The objective of the Fund is to achieve long-term growth and capital appreciation by investing primarily in equity securities of United States-based corporations.

This fundamental investment objective may only be changed with the approval of a majority of unitholders at a meeting called for that purpose. The Fund's investment strategies describe below, may be changed at our discretion.

Investment strategies

The Manager's core investment philosophy is "growth at a reasonable price". In practice, this means investment in companies with good growth potential whose common stock can be bought at a reasonable valuation. Identifying companies that are undervalued in relation to their expected growth is a challenging, ongoing process.

Equity markets are affected by countless economic, market, industry and company variables. The "growth at a reasonable price" investment selection process requires the Manager to constantly identify and evaluate those variables that will have a significant impact on the growth of current and potential holdings of the Fund, and to make investment decisions accordingly.

Within this context, in selecting investments for the Fund, the Manager will:

- focus on companies with superior growth trends;
- focus on companies within industries that should provide a positive environment for future growth;
- focus on companies that are dominant within an industry or that have a niche within an industry;

- evaluate corporate management teams based on such factors as how they have planned and achieved growth and how they have handled adversity, in order to make a judgment regarding the likelihood that their current management policies will provide superior growth in the future.

The Fund will not invest in units of other mutual funds, and, in addition to the standard investment restrictions set out in securities legislation, the Fund will not invest in tobacco stocks.

As at the date of this simplified prospectus we do not intend to use derivatives for currency hedging purposes as permitted by National Instrument 81-102. However, in the future, the Fund may use exchange traded futures contracts for currency hedging purposes to protect against fluctuations in the value of the US dollar relative to the Canadian dollar.

The Fund does not intend to enter into securities lending, repurchase or reverse repurchase transactions.

WHAT ARE THE RISKS OF INVESTING IN THIS FUND?

The principal risks of investing in this Fund are equity securities risk, comprised of market risk, capitalization risk, liquidity risk and market capitalization risk. As the Fund invests in U.S. equity securities, exchange rate risk is also a consideration. Other risks include specialization risk, concentration risk and series risk. As at October 21, 2009 three investors individually held more than 10% of the Fund's outstanding units. If a unitholder holds units representing a large portion of the outstanding units of the Fund, an investment in the Fund will also involve large unitholder risk as described below.

Market Risk

The value of equity securities is affected by changes in general market conditions. Changes in market conditions are influenced by corporate developments, changes in interest rates, changes in the level of inflation, and other political and economic developments. Equity securities in certain companies or companies within a certain industry may fluctuate differently because of changes in outlook for those individual companies or the particular industry.

Capitalization Risk

The share price of smaller capitalization companies is usually more volatile than that of more established larger capitalization companies. Smaller companies may be developing new products that have not yet been tested in the marketplace or their products may quickly become obsolete. They may also have limited resources, including limited access to funds or unproven management. Smaller companies may trade less frequently and in smaller value than shares of large companies. They may have few shares outstanding so a sale or purchase of shares will have a greater impact on the share price. The value of shares in small capitalization companies may rise and fall dramatically.

Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk is the possibility that investments in a Fund cannot be readily converted into cash when required. The value of securities is subject to greater fluctuation if they are not traded regularly.

Market Capitalization Risk

The Fund has no restrictions with regards to the market capitalization of its investments. If the Fund becomes more highly concentrated in smaller market cap stocks, liquidity risk will increase.

Currency Risk

The Fund invests primarily in securities denominated in US dollars and their value is affected by changes in the rate of exchange between the Canadian and US dollar. When the value of the Canadian dollar falls in relation to the US dollar, then the value of the US investments rises. When the value of the Canadian dollar rises, the value of the US investments falls.

Specialization Risk

Some funds specialize by investing in a particular sector of the economy or part of the world or by using a specific investment style or approach. The Fund is managed according to the manager's own particular "growth at a reasonable price" investment style. Specialization allows a fund to focus on a specific investment approach, which can boost returns if the particular sector, country or investment style is in favour. However, if the particular sector, country or investment style is out of favour, the value of the mutual fund may underperform relative to investments that are not specialized.

Concentration Risk

If a mutual fund concentrates its investments in a relatively small number of securities or in certain industry sectors, the value of the portfolio is likely to vary more in response to changes in the market value of these securities or industry sectors. The Fund may concentrate investments in a relatively small number of securities.

Series Risk

The Fund is available in more than one series of units. Each series has its own fees and expenses which the Fund tracks separately. If, for any reason, a Fund cannot pay the expenses of one series using its proportionate share of the Fund's assets, the Fund will be required to pay these expenses out of the other series' proportionate share of assets. This could lower the investment return of the other series.

Large Unitholder Risk

Units of the Fund may be purchased and redeemed by large investors. Depending on the size of the redemption request relative to the size of the Fund, the Fund could be forced to alter its portfolio of assets significantly in order to accommodate a large redemption request. This could have a negative impact on performance of a Fund because it may need to dispose prematurely of portfolio assets that have not yet reached a desired market value, resulting in a loss to the Fund.

WHO SHOULD INVEST IN THIS FUND?

This Fund is appropriate for investors seeking exposure to high quality United States-based growth companies. It is suitable for investors with moderate tolerance for risk, a long term investment horizon of at least five years and who seek diversification outside Canada.

DISTRIBUTION POLICY

The Fund generally makes distributions of net investment income and net realized capital gains to its investors in December. Additional distributions may be made during the course of the year at the discretion of the Manager.

All net investment income and net realized capital gains that are distributed by the Fund are automatically reinvested in units of the Fund unless you tell us in advance that you want your distributions in cash. Immediately after the distribution and reinvestment of units, units of the Fund are consolidated so that the same number of units is outstanding after the distribution as before the distribution. For more information about distributions please see the section called Distributions from the Fund on page 11.

FUND EXPENSES INDIRECTLY BORNE BY INVESTORS

Because the Fund has not completed a full financial year, the Fund is not able to provide you with information regarding the actual fees and expenses indirectly borne by an investor. We will include this information in the Fund's subsequent prospectus once the Fund has completed a full financial year.
